

I oppose any changes to the FCC indecency standards that would allow expletives and nudity on television or radio, even if brief or "fleeting."

It is very important to me, as the mother of a baby girl, that what is broadcast on the TV and radio be appropriate for children's eyes and ears. There is already so much that is inappropriate for kids to see and hear, and their innocence needs to be preserved as long as possible. It is absolutely wrong that profanity and nudity be acceptable during the times when so many children are exposed to the television in their homes or radio in the car.

Please reconsider and changes to your indecency standards. Thank you.
